

Assistant Head: Teaching and Learning

In Toto Ed Cambridge | Cambridge, Cambridgeshire

Are you an outstanding teacher with a passion for SEND education and a proven ability to develop the practice of others?

Do you believe that every young person deserves an ambitious, engaging and personalised education, regardless of the barriers they may face?

In Toto Ed Cambridge is looking for an Assistant Head: Teaching and Learning to lead the development of pedagogy, strengthen classroom practice and help ensure that every student has the opportunity to achieve their potential.

Based at Fordham House Estate, just north of Cambridge, In Toto Ed Cambridge provides specialist education and personalised learning pathways for young people with complex needs. Its approach combines high-quality teaching, individualised support and a commitment to helping students build confidence, resilience and independence.

The opportunity

This is an exciting opportunity for an experienced classroom practitioner and established or aspiring senior leader to make a tangible difference to teaching and learning across the school.

Working closely with the Head Teacher, Deputy Head: Inclusion, SENCO and teaching staff, you will lead the implementation of the In Toto Ed Way, ensuring that excellent teaching is embedded consistently throughout the provision.

The role will include a reduced teaching timetable of approximately 30%, to be agreed with the Head Teacher, enabling you to remain closely connected to classroom practice while leading whole-school improvement.

Who are we looking for?

We are seeking a reflective, credible and inspiring educator who can build trust with colleagues, lead change and translate educational principles into consistently strong classroom practice.

Why join In Toto Ed Cambridge?

You will have the opportunity to shape classroom practice, develop colleagues and influence the educational experience of young people who benefit from a highly personalised approach to learning.

If you are passionate about SEND education, believe in the power of great teaching and want to help build a culture of continuous improvement, we would welcome your interest.

Apply or find out more

Please contact Ross Laird at Academicis at rlaird@academicis.co.uk or via 07901 585959 to have a confidential conversation regarding the position.